Egg Tempera painting has unsurpassed luminosity. Dozens of glazes can be applied in one day, and yet the medium also allows for meticulous linear detailing.

In this comprehensive five day workshop taught by a nationally recognized tempera painter, students will learn all aspects of the medium- its history, how to make genuine gesso panels, using eggs and tempera to mix the paint, and dozens of application and finishing techniques. Design principles of Old Master painters are also revealed.

Each student also receives a copy of Koo Schadler's 62-page egg tempera painting book.

Koo Schadler's detailed egg tempera paintings are in over 250 private, corporate and museum collections. She is represented by galleries in New York City, Boston and Santa Fe and teaches egg tempera and gesso workshops across the country. www.kooschadler.com
