The Reflective Journey will guide you in recording everyday life, life changing events, travels and things remembered. By learning simple techniques that anyone can do, you will be able to combine sketches, color, collage elements and words into unique personal compositions that capture the essence of the moments in your life. This class is a fun way to begin in the arts, and also great for those who have no artistic aspirations but would just like the enhanced memories and richer experiences which reflective journaling provides. It is also very useful and appropriate for experienced artists – as a way to enhance their sketchbooks, (the source book of artistic ideas).

The Reflective Journey is a perfect addition to the watercolor pocket-sketching course taught the three days before but it is in no way required and course content does not overlap significantly. Materials fee includes a kit for constructing your own journal in the first few hours of the class and all other materials.
