Discover the realism that illusionary texture can bring to your artwork. Rock Newcomb is a master of texture from ancient pottery to foliage and fur. In this absorbing workshop, students will learn techniques that can be used for many different applications. Individualized instruction on any subject is available. Rock's work has been honored with awards in exhibitions around the world, his work appearing on the cover of Artist's Magazine and in art magazines worldwide. Beginners are welcome and will work on a project that will teach form, texture and special techniques particular to acrylic paint.
